1 Introduction

1.1 Objective and scope of the document

This document aims to provide a synthetic overview on the HAIKU website, describing its structure and main functionalities. The website URL is: <http://www.haikuproject.eu>.

Please consider that this document describes the website at the moment of its first release. The website will be further improved and finalized during the following months.

1.2 Document Structure

This document is structured in three sections:

- Section 1 provides general introduction about D9.1;
- Section 2 is focused on the HAIKU website;
- Section 3 provides more detailed information concerning the website development.

2 HAIKU Website

2.1 Website

The HAIKU website has been designed aiming to be simple and user-friendly.

Figures 2, 3, 4, 5 show the project's front page that offers:

- the logo and project acronym
- partners logo
- news/events
- newsletter subscription section
- social media links
- acknowledgement of EU HE funding

The HAIKU website is online from December 12th, 2022.

HAIKU

Human AI teaming Knowledge and Understanding for aviation safety is a 36-months project funded by the Horizon Europe R&I Program.

Our Vision

Developing safe, secure, trustworthy and effective Human-AI partnerships in aviation systems.

Our Goal

Paving the way for human-centric-AI via the exploration of interactive AI prototypes in a wide range of aviation contexts.

Our Approach

A human-centred approach, starting from users' needs and pain points and analysing how technology changes human activity.

3 Website creation and back-end functionalities

The website has been created using wordpress, phpmysql, css, javascript, jquery programming languages and standards.

The site offers two types of access rights with different privileges to users. Specifically, “Administrator” and “Super administrator” user group rights will be given to CERTH and DBL in order to be able to modify the website’s contents.

The HAIKU website uses metrics such as Google Analytics to track the number of website visitors throughout the project. This information will be used for dissemination reporting and to evaluate the site’s visibility. Additionally, the site offers trackers for each file to monitor the number of downloads, such as deliverables. In terms of user privacy, any user information will only be retained after confirmation and acceptance of subscription to the website newsletter or website cookies. We use cookies to personalise content and ads, to provide social media features and to analyse our traffic. We also share information about the use of our site with our social media, advertising and analytics partners who may combine it with other information that visitor has provided to them or that they've collected from visitor the use of their services. More analytical description about cookie policy can be found here: <https://haikuproject.eu/privacy-policy-2/>.
